Aries likes to step into roles of leadership, be impulsive and aggressive. When agitated, these energies are also impatient, moody, aggressive. Aries doesn't like delays. Ruled by Mars.

Moon: The Moon represents energy associated with the mood of the people. It is the energy that is sensed regarding the feelings of the general population or that of common people. It is the sway of public opinion and the short-term focus of attention. It can be thought of as the energy of the population, the sense of community, the activity of everyday affairs, the focus of the attention of the people, the feelings women experience and the cycles of the tides. It is expressed through democracy, crowds and public nature. It can be thought of as the eb and flow of life as experienced through the collective which is humanity. There is a strong connection to the subconscious aspects of being and feeling that is felt by everyone that tends to direct awareness to common points of focus. It is where the public attention falls.

Mars: Mars is a strong masculine energy that deals with confrontation and opposition. It represents the energies associated with assertiveness, courage, bravery and force. It is the energy behind the physical drive to change situations. It is closely linked to the military, armed forces and war. It covers violent crime, aggression, military action, violence in general, police, soldiers, attacks, armed conflicts and fire. It is the essence of the fighting spirit which is rooted in sporting competitions, engineering projects, industrial disputes, strikes, protests and riots. It is the opposition of forces that become engaged. It brings out the characteristics seen in leaders that need to succeed at all costs such as boldness, frankness, endurance and initiative. It brings the fire to see the conflict through to its inevitable conclusion.

Uranus: Uranus represents an energy where sudden or unexpected change is made by exploring creativity, originality and individuality. It rules electricity and all the technology that goes along with it. It's linked to scientific discovers, inventions, explosions and the inventors, scientists and business people that work in these fields. It is associated with sudden change, anarchy, rebellion, unrest, upheaval, strikes, riots as its influence is towards individualism. Right-wing political ideas and fascism are supported here along with free-market enterprise, anarchy and nihilism. It is tied to unruly events, wild changes in weather and outer space. The energy can bring out people's highest potential as they strive for independence and transform their environment through the use of technology.

Eris: This energy comes to us in the spirit of trouble through chaos. It is a subtle energy that feeds off the problems it can stir up in others. It could be thought of as the mean girl that goes to great lengths to make sure everyone else is uncomfortable. The base ideas are fighting, quarrelling, discord, strife and rejoicing in havoc. Look for this energy to highlight trouble, toil, oblivion, hunger, pain, murder, carnage, brawls, disputes, ruin, forgetfulness, deceit and lawlessness. It is linked to computer security, cultural status issues and fire. Eris is going to try to stir up discord in whatever location it interacts with in the chart. It shows us the areas in life where we can be distracted. It will suggest the characteristics that should be resisted in order to refrain from bring joy to the mean girl Eris.

It is a sign that is in touch with the natural life cycles which helps bring emotional stability to situations.

Mercury: Mercury represents the energy of the messenger which is highlighted through intellect and communication. It is directly linked to the exchange of information through the press, literature, internet, teachers, journalists and reporters. It is associated with all the areas of life that facilitate communication like schools, colleges, universities, TV, phones and cars, planes, trains with their associated infrastructure. It also deals with propaganda, fake news, business deals, rumors, political lobbying and positions in governments, or corporations, that deal with negotiations, writing law and debate. It can be thought of as the energy regarding how someone gets educated or how someone might educate someone else. It is eloquent, perceptive, intellectual and adaptable.

Vesta: Vesta is a feminine energy that shows how you devote yourself to a cause and how you stay focused. It brings out the purest potential of the situation. It is thought of as organized, perfect, security, devoted. There is a tactile and sensual aspect to this energy due to the passion that is used to fully commit to the task at hand. At best, it represents the energy of how the perfect wife would behave. The image of a perfect wife. To that, it is thought of as security, sisterly, value oriented, yet also chaste. When not well aspected, there is lack of focus, fear of intimacy, family issues, self-abusive tendencies, insecurity and promiscuity. This energy is the living flame of passion that brings out the desire for the required mission.

Conjunct: The conjunction points out a situation of prominence as it adds a richer emphasis on the heightened, strengthened and amplified planetary attributes within the sign that can be seen as either favorable or unfavorable.

- Pallas in Libra (29°) Trine (~120°) Conjunction
